This weeks speaker: Introduction by Jack Hess

David Fender

Human Distraction Resulting from Technology

David retired in 2016 after 21 years as a Professor in the Department of Occupational Safety and Health at Murray State University. He was the Master's Degree On-line Program Coordinator and is currently an adjunct professor for the University. He previously worked as a safety professional in industry and with the US Army. He has experience with a broad range of safety management issues including aviation, playgrounds, day care centers, vehicles, industry, and system safety.

David received his Bachelor Degree from Central Missouri University, Masters Degree from the University of Southern California and Doctorate from Vanderbilt University. He has published several articles in safety & health journals and has written chapters in text and reference books.

David has found that changing technology can have good and bad results. One area that has gotten increasing attention is the effect of human distraction resulting from technology. Much of this focus has been on distracted driving although the issue is broader than this.

David will directly address the issues and will present an up-to-date summary of the research on distracted operation of vehicles focusing on cell phone usage and hands-free vehicle systems. Also, he will touch on pedestrian distraction and what research shows about other common distractions. He will define exactly what the problem is through research instead of personal opinion, fables and "common sense." Explaining the "what" and "why" of distraction.

PLEASE WELCOME DAVID FENDER !!

The Four Way Test Of the Things We Think, Say, and Do

- First, is it the truth?
- Second, is it fair to all concerned?
- Third, will it build goodwill and better friendships?
- Fourth, will it be beneficial to all concerned?

Of course it will, Now go out and live it!
