AI And Its Effects On Daily Life And Beyond

Gina is the founder of Deva Industries which was founded in 1991. Deva Industries is an Organizational Development Company dedicated to helping organizations stay current in our constantly changing world so they can better service their customers. By working closely with key individuals, and using automated tools and plain old seasoned business sense, Deva helps find solutions to the challenges of organizational evolution.

Gina is a seasoned Process Engineer and business consultant with extensive expertise in scalable process design, automation, and organizational development. With a career spanning leadership roles across corporate, Federal, and nonprofit environments, she has designed and implemented enterprise-wide process ecosystems, Power Platform solutions, and AI-enhanced automation frameworks that drive efficiency and strategic alignment.

As the founder of Deva Industries, Gina brought multiple software products to market, guided process transformations for diverse clients, and mentored international women entrepreneurs under USAID initiatives. She also serves on the technical advisory council at Dunbar High and on the board of STEMCAT, a STEM education and workforce development non-profit.
